Bruce Zawalsky CD, chief instructor

Bruce has over 15 years experience working full time as a Professional Wilderness Survival Instructor. He is a lifelong outdoor enthusiast, guiding his first group in the mountains in 1981. Since then he has developed his skills in leading groups and team building at the University of Alberta, Augustana University College, PADI College, the Nordic Ski Institute, and through his military experience.

He has studied with Mors Kochanski and developed his teaching skills through years of instruction and practice. This allows him to pass on his great wealth of knowledge of modern wilderness survival, wilderness navigation, and wilderness travel. Bruce is presently writing a book on modern wilderness survival (The Canadian Wilderness Survival Manual) and is also our Custom Corporate & Group Training Specialist.

"I know that given the training and the time to practice in a positive environment, everyone can master outdoor skills and enjoy safe wilderness travel."

—Bruce Zawalsky
